

Exploratory fits vs the training mean shape

The start-credit confound in one panel

Left: fitted shapes (solid) against registry shapes (dashed) and the training-set mean; fits are EXPLORATORY, train rows only, pilot-v0.1. Right: the fitted β_x is a strong function of the assumed start credit, which is exactly the confound the validation plan flags: no fitted fatigue value is interpretable until the start credit is measured.